

Jewish Times

- I. Isiah and Isikiel – with a argument from The American Hebrew pinned.

We argue how speedy the recovery has been for Sirohi. Just a week of the worst suffering though full of jokes. It means we were getting prepared for a year of suffering. But Sirohi pulls of a Jewish event – he means just see this image of him – in Maratisa – he is getting off the train and this then is a car passing by in speed with us, which then is Jewish Young Prophet Sirohi in a train in Tel Aviv and this then is getting off the car for us. And we are then following the scenery of nature in some village in that spiritual sense of Sirohi and trains.

- II. These Images of Jewish Art and Life (Pinning from the American Hebrew)

These many speedy images of Jewish life is then Maratisa – the woman who is divine and Jewish with a love and sexuality for Sirohi – and he is then their divine answer – how can he fail. Maratisa – means – he makes up an argument which is out of thin air. He is just metaphysical – he argues – in one dimension – this is Forester arguing – a literary meeting is like Maratisa, but compossible to any situation – it just wins with a bit of wit, which is called wit in his sense. Be witty, but then wit more, out wit.
